Their Streets Have Light, So They Don't Care!

Yes the people in the area of Bernhardstraat are still in darkness, those in charge are aware of the problem however it's not priority for them because around their homes have light. Why wait till something fatal happens to then run come do something? Our Question now is: were are those who was posing with the paved road in Juana Morto? come pose now with these 15 street lights thats not working! ps walk with flash it's real dark!

Cost Of Living In 2019 Is Way To High...

We see them on a daily basis walking in the supermarket trying to survive. Shopping should be fun, but nowadays it feels like pure pressure, looking for the inferior products to save a 25 cent here a 10 cent there. Next year things will be even wurst as different taxes will be introduced. The pensioners will have it extra hard as their income is nothing to talk about.
